

STONE BLIND, HE FOUGHT POLICE WITH A KNIFE

Murderous Slasher Found to Be Sightless When Knocked Out.

Flourishing a knife and swearing vengeance against all men and women, a man came staggering through West Tenth street early to-day. A night watchman employed by a department store saw him and telephoned to Police Headquarters.

"You had better send some police around here," he said. "There's a man with a knife on the street, and he looks like he means to murder some one."

Policeman Schriber, of the Mercer Street Station, was sent after the man. He and the night watchman were at Broadway and Tenth street when they heard a yell up the street. Schriber, with club and revolver drawn, ran to the spot, and in front of No. 48 came upon two men struggling. One of them, Thomas Hughes, a watchman employed by a burglar alarm company, was in the grasp of the second man, who seemed bent on slaying him to death.

When the policeman approached, the man with the knife made for him. He seemed to follow the policeman by the sound of his footfalls, and the policeman had to strike many times with his nightstick before his assailant fell in a heap at his feet, still holding the sharp knife.

"I don't know why that man attacked me," began Hughes. "I was here watching a house when he appeared, and I told him to go on his way. Then he began stabbing at me. He followed me wherever I went, and I did not seem to be able to go the street. Schriber, as Hughes finished talking he fell in a faint, there was a cut extending from the top of his head to his chin, and his clothes were cut to ribbons.

An ambulance came from New York Hospital, Hughes was badly hurt, but his assailant was also hurt from the blows of the policeman. Both were taken to the hospital. As the ambulance drew up and the slasher was told to get in, he said:

"You had better help me out of this, I am blind as a bat."

It was true, the man was absolutely blind—he has been blind all his life. He is Christopher C. Schneider, of No. 48 Grand street, Brooklyn.

"I can fight by a sound," he said as he was led in a ward to have his cuts and bruises patched up. "I got on a little tear last night," he continued, "and went out to hurt some one. I suppose I don't know one thing more about it. Schneider is twenty years old and was educated at the Institution for the Blind at Thirty-fourth street and Ninth avenue. There he learned how to cane chairs and do other things. He is now blind, but he is a very capable man. He has a few dollars in his pocket, and he is now in the hospital. Hughes' friends, while not necessary, by mutual consent.

A BRILLIANT SCENE.

Eastman's Highest Store Witnesses Most Successful Fall Opening in Its History.

To the thousands who yearly visit the spring and fall opening of the E. C. P. Koch & Co. store, West 14th street, yesterday's initial autumn exhibition of millinery and outer apparel for women must have appeared with irresistible attractiveness, for it is doubtful if more comprehensive assortment of things to wear could be assembled with such discriminating taste and strict attention to detail.

The millinery salon, on the second floor, was aglow with stylish headwear of every correct type. The hats shown were entirely au fait with the demands of the season, and for evening and the more conservative assortment of things to wear could be assembled with such discriminating taste and strict attention to detail.

The outer apparel section on the third floor offered many striking attractions. An evening coat by Pilon was much admired. An evening gown, richly embroidered, a copy of a Virol, received the enthusiastic endorsement of all present. Street suits were also shown in a profusion of models as were waists and children's and misses' garments.

CAUGHT!

The shrewd business men and economical housewives of Greater New York have been trying to find out which newspaper will give their business "offers" and Domestic "wants" the most effective publicity.

Evidence was wanted and a clue was found in the fact that The World accepts all advertisements of a greater average, Morning and Sunday, CITY circulation than any other newspaper. And as a result The World was "caught."

35,549 10,446

advertisements were printed in The World last week.

MORE than in the Herald or in ANY OTHER Newspaper ANYWHERE.

WILL BE GREEN AND NOTHING

The Manhattan Casino will be wearing of the green and nothing else Thursday night, the grand annual summer-night festival of the Michael Davitt Patriotic, Benevolent and Social Club, formerly known as the Ballyhenry Club. Everything will be Irish. The First Regiment Irish Volunteer Band will provide music. The Rev. John Grealy, of Boston, will present an Irish flag to the society and the dances will be Irish jigs and reels.

John Daniell Sons & Sons La Beaute Corsets.

La Beaute Corsets mark the highest type of corset making—each one being made by hand, singly, with the exquisite attention to detail that characterizes the making of the best type of custom stays only. The materials are fine imported cloths. The Greenland whalebone (that is used exclusively) gives pliability to the corset without stretching, and the trimmings of lace and ribbon are the daintiest imaginable.

La Beaute Corsets are made in accordance with the latest requirements of fashion, with fitting qualities that are superb. A model for every figure.

When a corset is improperly chosen the strain is thrown in the wrong place and the garment quickly loses its shape. Our experienced corsetieres are always ready to assist you in choosing the correct model. Our system of fitting assures a selection of the proper model for each style of figure.

La Beaute Corsets are always precisely correct in form, because designed in strict conformity with the prevailing fashion in gowns. They rival the best French-made corsets, but cost not nearly as much.

Prices $3.00 to $35.00 per pair.
